

CLAIMS

1. For use in a computer, a method of exposing, to an application, an NDIS compatible set of interfaces to a remote wireless device, the method comprising the detecting a new connection to the remote wireless device; instantiating a data channel and a control channel;

passing an NDIS data packet across the data channel; and passing an NDIS control packet across the control channel.

Ad A6